4. Cutting down or felling trees is a big decision that property owners have to make. Even so, keeping a sick, injured or badly damaged tree can be very dangerous both to the property and the people using the space. In such cases, having the tree checked with professional arborists is essential since they will determine if the tree needs to be removed or not. Diseased or injured trees can be treated or trimmed and when both the treatments and trimming are not viable, the last resort is to remove the trees.

Structural Diagnosis Of A Tree

- Partial or complete defoliation by the tree as a sign of drying up.
- Discoloration and bothersome dropping of the tree's foliage.
- A dead, unhealthy tree with structural problems including internal decay.
- Badly damaged tree after a storm.
- Bad crotch and cranks on the tree.
- Tree leaning in a dangerous direction (>15° from vertical position) towards a house or where people frequently use like walkways and parking lots.
